AN INSTALLATION OF CREATIVE MASKS
ORGANIZED BY THE PROVIDENCE ART CLUB

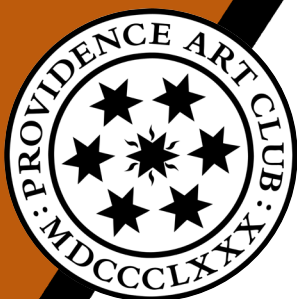

This summer the historic Providence Art Club, located on College Hill, was pleased to welcome all Rhode Islanders to participate in a collaborative creative project – the Conceal/Reveal Mask Installation, which featured artworks in the shape of facemasks displayed in the Club’s historic Dodge House Gallery on Thomas Street. Works by Rhode Islanders of all ages were welcome for this project – the youngest participant was 9 years old. The show took part in two phases, one featuring members of the Art Club and the second featuring artists from throughout the State. More than 80 artists took part.

The goal of this project is twofold – first, to celebrate the importance of creativity and the healing power of the visual arts during this difficult time, and second, to encourage our friends and neighbors to wear masks in order to continue to slow the spread of Covid-19 in our community.

We are grateful to the Rhode Island Department of Health for hosting the traveling component of this timely installation and for supporting this project by spreading the word about it to contacts around the State. We are hopeful that this project will continue through the coming months – reminding participants and viewers to wear their masks – but to also keep up their creative efforts!

ABOUT THE PROVIDENCE ART CLUB

Founded in 1880 to stimulate the appreciation of art in the community, the Club has long been a place for artists and art patrons to congregate, create, display and circulate works of art. Located along Thomas Street, in the shadow of the First Baptist Church, the Providence Art Club is a picturesque procession of historic houses, home to studios, galleries and the clubhouse. Through its public programs, its art instruction classes for members and its active exhibition schedule, the Providence Art Club continues a tradition of sponsoring and supporting the visual arts in Providence and throughout Rhode Island.

All exhibitions are free and open to the public
