A Note Regarding
Data Inaccuracies and Limitations

The data used for the Rhode Island Arts Education Data Project was self-reported by Districts and LEAs. This may not reflect the complete number of students enrolled or with access to arts programing. Please note that this dashboard is missing complete arts course enrollment from a minority of public schools in Rhode Island. As a result, please take caution when considering schools with 0% arts enrollment. These data limitations are present due to inaccuracies with data reporting. The aim of releasing this tool with some data limitations is to work to continue to bring awareness to and address data quality issues. Our hope is that this tool will help collect more accurate data in the future.
